New Rome Press has put out a beautiful new bi-lingual edition of the Holy Gospel Book for the Altar. The Greek text from which the translation is made is the official Patriarchal text. The cost of the Gospel Book is $350 plus shipping. This is the description of the book from the New Rome website:

This uniquely beautiful 620pp publication is hardbound in red cloth with gold stamping, gilded edges, two page marker ribbons, and includes a clothbound gold-stamped slipcase. Printed on 100gsm acid-free light cream paper, this edition includes original color illuminations based on ancient prototypes and finely pencil-drawn iconographic illustrations that give it a uniquely beautiful Orthodox aesthetic. The text also includes marginal notes (Old Testament references, Gospel reference locators, and select Synaxarion notices) that enhance the Gospel text for study and usability.

This edition of the Gospel includes the modern English text of the Eastern / Orthodox Bible (EOB) – an Orthodox translation, of the New Testament based on the Patriarchal text of 1904. The Patriarchal Text of 1904 is the normative edition of the Liturgical text of Holy Gospel for the Orthodox Church.
